

Designing age-appropriate activities

Use the following six areas to design age-appropriate practices for your players:

Have a clearly defined session objective

Create activities that replicate the demands of the game

Include opposition and competition in most activities

Use games that maximize time on the ball and decision-making

Use age-appropriate small-sided games in practice sessions

Always consider the ability level of the player